

Romney Claims On Education Called 'Phony'

By The Associated Press
The biggest verbal salvo of the Michigan gubernatorial campaign was fired Thursday by a man who wasn't here, but who charged that "Gov. Romney's claims of educational progress are phony."

The accusation was flung by Democratic Rep. Neil Staebler who is opposing Republican George Romney's bid for reelection in November. It came by way of a statement, issued after Staebler had broken off campaigning to return to Washington.

"The Present Republican governor has tried to turn a record of educational failure into one of success," Staebler said, adding: "No matter how the present governor tries to twist his record, the facts don't support him."

Costs Rising
"Although the present governor had more tax revenue to spend than any governor in the history of the state, his own recommendations were at least $30 million below requested operating funds in 1963. They were only a quarter of requested building funds for 1963," Romney even ignored the report of his own Blue Ribbon Committee on Education.

"He was $4 million below the committee's absolute minimum in operating funds and a full $16 million below the absolute minimum for building funds."

The Democratic candidate also charged that state aid to local school districts had not kept up with rising costs, saying that actual increase in state aid amounted to only 5.3 percent of the over-all budget whereas costs went up six percent.

Governor Praises Guard
Romney took a day off the campaign trail, but was the featured speaker Thursday night at the dinner which closed the Detroit convention of the National Guard Association of the United States.

There, the governor stuck to a non-political theme, praising the National Guard for assistance it renders in such as the violence-ridden Essex Wire Co. strike at at Hillsdale and domestic disasters such as tornadoes.

He did, however, stress individual responsibility and said that "a thought which predominates in my mind is that this nation can never be stronger than the 50 states."

"America," he continued, "has been built by individuals who have developed the philosophy that they must do more than enjoy their rights, but must also accept their individual and collective responsibilities."

Congress Takes Final Sprint To Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two key administration measures — aid to the aged ill and to the Appalachia poor — may be brushed aside as Congress sprints toward adjournment.

The reappointment rider already has been yanked from the foreign aid bill.

As if flipping the calendar page to October made them suddenly aware of how fast election day is approaching, members of Congress are exhibiting a sudden zest to get their work done and get out on the campaign trail.

But when they will close up shop — and whether they will be called back to Washington after Nov. 3 — is a mystery at this point.

Money Bills Up

Before the House today is $4.25 billion worth of appropriations, and once this fiscal cork is blown it will be hard to hold the members — all of whom must stand re-election if they want to stay in Congress — in Washington.

To complete the fiscal work of the long 1964 session, the House is being asked to vote on a $1-billion supplemental money bill for the added requirements of several government agencies and on the Senate version of a $3.25-billion foreign aid appropriation.

The authorization which sets the ceiling for this spending cleared a conference of House and Senate members Thursday night stripped of all reference to Supreme Court-ordered reapportionment of state legislatures. It was a long fight over this aid bill rider which tied up the Senate for weeks and helped prolong this session.

Liberals May Win

If the full House and Senate give their approval to what the conferees did, the small band of liberals who fought to uphold the Supreme Court's "one man-one vote" decision will have won an even larger victory than they expected.

For all that had remained of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's proposal to delay for at least a year action on the Supreme Court's decision that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned purely on population was a mild "sense of Congress" declaration which would not have been binding.

It was designed to allow district courts, in their discretion, to (1) permit state legislatures up to six months to reapportion and (2) permit the next elections for state legislatures to be conducted on the basis of state laws in effect Sept. 20.

Now even this watered-down proposal appears dead.

Whatever faint hopes administration forces had that the plan to enact health care for the aged would be approved by this Congress were all but extinguished Thursday when a conference committee that has been trying to work out a compromise bill broke up in stalemate.

The chairman, Rep. Walter D. Mills, D-Ark., scheduled another session today. But Mills and other House conferees are adamantly opposed to the program.

Health Plan Held Up

The proposal for hospitalization benefits for persons retired under Social Security was added by the Senate to a House-passed bill increasing the basic Social Security retirement.

It appeared likely the committee will be asked to drop the health plan for this year and work out a compromise between the House scale of retirement benefits and the higher one voted by the Senate. These could go into effect before the end of the year.

The second major Johnson proposal still pending — the $1.06-billion Senate-passed bill to rehabilitate the Appalachia area — is a victim of absenteeism.

Administration forces are reluctant to put the controversial measure to a House vote without some certainty that enough of their troops are on hand to pass it.

Movie Company Rescued From Disabled Ship

MAZATLAN, Mexico (AP) — A movie company's disabled ship with 35 persons aboard was towed safely into the harbor of this Pacific Coast resort Thursday night after being stranded at sea in a tropical storm.

Actress Maria Schell and actor Stanley Baker arrived earlier in a 14-foot fishing boat which rescued them from the 225-foot Hiramundo. The Hiramundo lost its rudder when the storm struck and anchored seven miles off the coast.

Miss Schell and Baker were among 110 persons who went to sea aboard the Hiramundo Wednesday to film scenes for the movie "Who Has Seen the Wind?" Fishing boats took off all but 35 of the group.

License Plate Control Scrap Goes To Court

LANSING (AP) — A struggle between the State Civil Service Commission and the secretary of state's office over control of license plate branch offices in nine major cities will be decided in the courts.

Ingham County Circuit Judge Marvin Salmon Thursday rejected a plea by attorneys for Secretary of State James Hare for dismissal of the case.

He also denied a request by the Civil Service Commission that the state be ordered to halt payments to managers of the 35 offices, now under the fee system.

A trial on the merits of the case was ordered with no date immediately set.

The offices are located in Detroit, Pontiac, Muskegon, Flint, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Bay City, Kalamazoo and Lansing.

No Salary Provision

The commission has contended the volume of sales of license plates in the offices is of such size and permanence that they should be manned by state workers under civil service.

The commission had planned to make the change effective last July 1.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled, however, that the legislature had made no provisions for state salaries for the offices and said they should be continued under the fee system.

Civil service officials argued that, under the State Constitution, its approval is needed before the state can enter into private service contracts with persons not under civil service.

The legislative mandate earmarking the money for fee payments violated the Constitution, civil service spokesmen argued. Deputy Atty. Gen. Harry Iwasko, in arguing for dismissal of the case, said that the matter should go before the State Supreme Court since it

Effects Of GM Strike Are Felt

DETROIT (AP) — A nationwide strike by the United Auto Workers against General Motors entered its second week today amid signs that its impact was beginning to be felt in some communities.

Negotiators seeking to end the walkout reported slow progress in efforts to resolve nearly 17,000 local plant demands, the bulk of which apparently must be settled before striking workers return to their jobs.

An Associated Press survey indicated that if the dispute continues for another week the economic effects will start to be felt from coast to coast.

One More Paycheck

Since the GM payroll lags a week behind the work period however, most of the strikers had another paycheck coming this week.

More than a quarter-million UAW members were ordered off GM assembly lines in 16 states last Friday when bargainiers failed to reach agreement on national non-economic issues for a new three-year labor contract.

Immediately production of new 1965 Chevrolets, Buicks, Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Cadillacs came to a halt.

But the UAW instructed workers to continue on the job at GM factories which turn out parts and accessories sold to the giant automaker's chief competitors — Ford and Chrysler.

Accessories destined for GM automobiles began to fill up available storage space, however, and the company ordered a cutback in production.

Loss In Millions
By the end of the week, layoffs of non-striking workers totaled nearly 15,000 in New York, Indiana, Connecticut, Ohio and Michigan. More were expected next week.

GM said the strike is costing hourly-rated employees more than $7 million daily in wages, and that the figure could rise to $9 million as more layoffs become necessary.

Automobile production for the industry as a whole fell off from last week's 150,924 to 83,762.

Wall Street brokers said the GM strike has had a dampening effect on the stock market, reflected in a slower trading pace and some signs of retreat.

General Motors stock itself, however, remained close to $100 a share, just under its all-time record level.

Other business firms have felt the shock, though.

In Alpena, Mich., the strike closed down Draser Products Corp., which has two plants employing about 200 workers.

The company manufactures seaming lace for seat covers as well as floor mats for Buick and other GM divisions.

Gulf Coast Area Residents Flee From Hurricane

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Hurricane Hilda hurled her screaming 150-mile winds toward the deserted marshlands of the Louisiana Gulf coast today. More than 50,000 residents moved inland to safety.

National Guardsmen rushed in to aid in the mass evacuation as the season's most powerful hurricane began a slow and ominous turn toward the central Louisiana coast.

Although Hilda's center was still more than 200 miles offshore in the Gulf of Mexico, heavy rains and squalls were buffeting the coastal regions by midmorning.

"There have been 50,000 evacuated already," said Frank G. Spiess, acting state Civil Defense director. "There will be more if this thing keeps coming in this way."

The Weather Bureau's 10 a. m., CST, advisory, said Hilda was centered about 240 miles south-southwest of New Orleans and moving north-northwest to north at about seven miles per hour.

The nearest point of land to Hilda was Marsh Island, a wildlife refuge some 200 miles north of the hurricane's eye — the calm center which spins out furious winds.

The Weather Bureau forecasters said Hilda was still too far offshore to predict where she would strike the coast.

Remembering killer hurricanes of the past, thousands fled their homes, leaving virtual ghost towns behind them.

The thriving seaport of Morgan City — shore-based headquarters for much of the billion-dollar oil drilling operations in the Gulf — was almost deserted. Many commercial shrimp boats call Morgan City, which has a population of 14,000, their home port.

A 23-mile long stretch in the western section of St. Mary Parish was ordered evacuated and school buses were put into service to shuttle evacuees to Opelousas, nearly 80 miles to the north. The Red Cross flew in 10,000 cots to Opelousas for the hurricane refugees.

Highway Under Water
Hospitals in the Morgan City-Franklin area sent their patients to Lafayette and Baton Rouge.

Civil Defense authorities said U.S. 90 west of Morgan City was covered by rising tides.

Rain-slick highways leading out of the St. Mary Parish area were clogged with automobiles.

The Morgan City Daily Review skipped publication for the first time in 94 years.

Store owners boarded up the fronts of their establishments. Some used masking tape to crisscross their windows, making them resemble giant spiderwebs.

Many sports events were canceled.

Hurricane warning flags were hoisted all along the Louisiana coast west of the mouth of the Mississippi River. A hurricane watch extended eastward to Mobile, Ala., and westward to Galveston, Tex.

Last Call For Voter Registry

Registry of voters for the Nov. 3 election ends in Michigan at 8 p. m. Monday, Oct. 5.

Escanaba City Clerk Don Guindon says his office in City Hall will be open all day Monday from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. including the 12 to 1 noon hour to register voters.

Township clerks register rural voters.

Thousands of rural voters are not registered and thus ineligible to vote Nov. 3.

Thousands of city voters are also not registered, with 16,000 population and about 8,000 registrations. Escanaba pulled the cards of 861 voters who haven't balloted in the past 2 years and hundreds haven't reinstated themselves by re-registration.

Satellite Tests Favorable For Olympic Photos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary test pictures relayed from Japan by the Syncom 3 communications satellite have boosted hopes for good U.S. reception for television shots of the Olympic Games, which open in Tokyo next week.

The satellite is hovering over the Pacific Ocean and is 22,300 miles in space.

Information Director Matthew Gordon of the Communications Satellite Corporation said Thursday the test transmission performance was "very good" considering Syncom was not originally designed for television relay.

COMSAT promised even better pictures for the formal inauguration on Tuesday of the trans-Pacific television space link, with the installation of highly refined specialized equipment flown from Tokyo to this country with a team of Japanese engineers.

Both Parties In Britain Are On Side Of U.S.

LONDON (AP) — Britain's major parties are firmly bound to maintain close partnership with the United States on world problems no matter which wins the election two weeks hence.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home of the Conservative party and Harold Wilson, the Labor party chief, do not agree on all the elements needed for an effective understanding with Americans, however. Overtones of a latter-day British nationalism are detectable. This nationalism is implied in the more independent role each party would have Britain play in the world.

One issue fundamental to British-American relations and to the future of NATO finds Conservatives and Laborites in conflict.

This is in the military and strategic role they want for Britain in defense of the non-Communist world.

Douglas-Home wants to preserve Britain's status as a nuclear power. Otherwise, he has said, "France and Red China will take our place in the international councils of the world."

Wilson wants "the new Britain" to shed what is called the independent British nuclear deterrent. He says "it is not independent, not British and not a deterrent."

Instead, Labor would like British troops, with their traditions of global service and their intercontinental base facilities, to act as trouble-shooting policemen for the West and for the United Nations.

A comparison of rival Tory and Labor policy statements and election aims indicates Douglas-Home is closer than Wilson to the official position of the Johnson administration on arms control in middle Europe, and military cooperation with Spain.

Party attitudes suggest Labor is closer to current American thinking than Conservatives on Britain's defense role, relations with the nonwhite nations and the United Nations' future.

On some key issues Conservatives and Laborites are united in opposing, or in reinforcing, established American policies.

Ed Johnson Back In Fight At 80

GREELEY, Colo. (AP) — Ed C. Johnson is back on the campaign trail, 16 years after he retired from the U.S. Senate.

The 80-year-old patriarch of the Colorado Democratic party made his comeback Thursday with a speech in support of Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall for re-election. Aspinall is being challenged by Republican Edwin Lamm.

Johnson also is a former governor of Colorado.

Union Calls 60,000 Back On Jobs At 7 P.M.

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO, ordered its 60,000 striking dockworkers to return to work at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports at 7 p. m. today, New York time.

The move complied with a federal court restraining order Thursday night halting the strike for 10 days in the national interest.

Before the meeting of union officials to set in motion the machinery for obeying U.S. Dist. Judge Frederick vanPelt Bryan's order, ILA President Thomas W. Gleason said: "We all went out together and we'll all go back together."

The judge acted on a declaration of national emergency by President Johnson.

The order was signed after the customary 3 p. m., hour of "shaping up" the dock gangs for the following day's work. Union officials said this hiring practice was the reason for the delay in bringing the piers back to life.

Pickets Withdrawn

Some pickets showed up at New York docks this morning, saying they had not received orders from their union ship stewards to pull down picket lines.

A little later the union notified all ports to withdraw pickets and stand by for return-to-work instructions.

Judge Bryan's order restraining the strike is good for 10 days. Bryan scheduled a hearing for next Thursday on the government's request for a preliminary injunction ordering an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act. The 80 days presumably would include the time starting at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Automation Blamed

If no agreement is reached by the end of 80 days, the longshoremen will be legally free to resume the strike.

Judge Bryan said the order was necessary to remove "a peril to the national health and safety."

A negotiations deadlock over threatened loss of jobs through automation in the loading and unloading of cargo was a major factor leading to the strike. The employers seek to reduce the 20-man work gangs by at least three. They contend modern cargo handling methods justify the cut.

Lake Michigan Drop Stopped

By The Associated Press
Except for Michigan and Huron, which are already at their lowest levels in recorded history, the Great Lakes are expected to fall during October.

All the lakes except Huron and Michigan, to which the Lake Superior flow has been increased, fell during September.

The Superior drop over the last month was one inch, the St. Clair, three inches; the Erie five, and the Ontario eight.

Falls forecast during October by the Lake Survey of the U.S. Corps of Engineers: Superior and St. Clair, two inches; Erie, four inches; Ontario, five inches.

No change is forecast for Michigan and Huron, which are joined by the Straits of Mackinac and maintain similar levels. But as of today, these two lakes are two inches below any other October since 1861, when the government first began keeping tabs on water levels.

Huron and Michigan, incidentally, are five feet, eight inches below their all-time October low, set 1934. St. Clair, two; Erie, seven, and Ontario, 17, all are on the plus side, compared with low-water 1934. Superior is 14 inches above its October low, recorded in 1925.

Forcast Good Season On Ducks

Duck hunters anticipate a good season this year. Federal regulations are less restrictive, the local hatch has been good, and the reports from Canada are slightly more optimistic, reports Joseph Vogt, Conservation Department game biologist.

Season length on ducks is from sunrise Oct. 8 to sunset Nov. 16, while goose season ranges from Oct. 1 to Dec. 9.

Daily bag limit on ducks is 4, including not more than: 2 mallards; 2 wood ducks; 2 canvasbacks or 2 redheads or 1 of each.

Daily bag limit of geese is 5, including not more than: 2

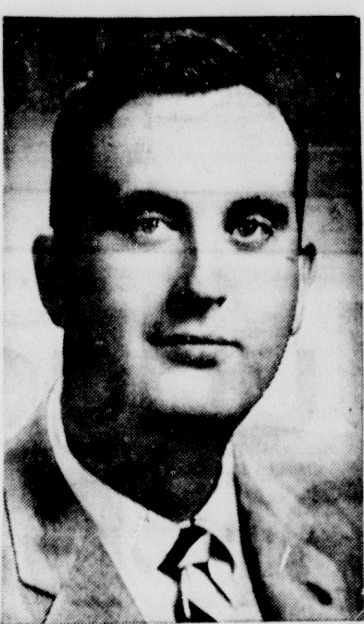

Canada geese, or, 2 white-fronted geese, or 1 Canada goose and 1 white-fronted goose. There is no open season on Ross geese or on Brant.

For further regulations or information, see the Game Law Digest supplement or your local conservation officer, Vogt said.

The local picture looks particularly promising. Spring surveys showed the best production since surveys began in 1954. Several thousand ducks and coots are present just before the season opener. Baldpates, mallards, teal and blacks predominate, but goodly numbers of coots, scaup and redheads are also here. Many teal have already migrated from the scene.

Flights of geese have been commonly seen during the past week, both Canadian and the blues and snows. Hunters are reminded of the earlier goose opener and are advised that Portage Marsh is a very poor spot to hunt geese.

"Much better possibilities are the farmers' fields surrounding Escanaba, and on the Stonington and Garden peninsulas. (Get the farmer's permission first!) Goose hunters in Portage Marsh could drive out many ducks prior to the season's opening, and spoil the duck hunter's sport," Vogt concluded.

DRIVE Chairman for Delta United Charities is Norbert Murphy of 505 S. 13th St., who will head the campaign to raise $50,000 to finance the operation of eight local agencies. The acceptance of Murphy was announced by John Pearson, DUC director, who said the drive will get under way on Oct. 15. The goal is the same as last year. Murphy is a member of the Bark River - Harris School system teaching staff.

Dr. Thomas Cook NMU Executive

MARQUETTE — The appointment of Dr. Thomas G. Cook as assistant to the vice president for public services at Northern Michigan University was announced today by Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president.

Dr. Cook, a native of Marquette, comes to Northern from Michigan State University. A graduate of Marquette Graceland High School, he received his bachelor's degree from Northern Michigan University and his master's degree from Michigan State.

After three years as teacher, principal, and superintendent of the Crystal, Mich., community schools, Dr. Cook joined the University of Wisconsin where he served as faculty representative of the University's Extension Division in 10 counties in southwestern Wisconsin.

Dr. Cook is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Cook of 923 N. Fourth Street, Marquette. He is married to the former Judith Jacobson of Marquette. The Cooks have two daughters.

Williams Believes

Peace Corps To Change America

G. Mennen Williams, former governor of Michigan who is now U. S. Undersecretary of state for African affairs, is hopeful for stability of Africa in the long range perspective.

"A thing about Africa often overlooked," he said "is that while it has had 30 new countries in the last 10 years, only in the Congo and Algeria have there been really serious birth-pains that would worry us. So most of the nations are making a reasonably good transition, although they are going to be problems for years.

The average per capita income is only $120 a year for Africa as a whole and this is only half that of the other nearest continent. The literacy rate is only 15 per cent and one country may speak English and the one next to it French so that messages have to be telephoned to Europe for communication.

"Some areas like the Congo have not developed beyond tribalism in the outlying areas so it is going to be years before this is changed. Liberia, Nigeria and Ethiopia have achieved a growth rate of 3.8 to 4.5 per cent and Nigeria—and one of every six Africans is a Nigerian — has increased agricultural production 29 per cent in 10 years.

"On the political side the Organization of African Unity has been a remarkable achievement. It has been able to organize continent-wide fairly effectively. It was hardly formed when it was called to end the fight between Algeria and Morocco, and then it stopped the fighting between Ethiopia and Somalia and now is taking up the Congo problem. If it can accomplish these things it has a maturity not to be looked for so early.

"The Russian and Chinese Communists have indicated their desire to penetrate Africa and wherever there is some kind of trouble they're there fishing as hard as they can, but they have not made a single satellite.

"The African people want to be independent and not subject to outside domination. The Communists are going to make every effort to get in and the U. S. must recognize that we — the Western nations—must help them economically and governmentally or they'll look to the Communist countries, not for ideological leadership but for economic assistance.

"The U. S. is spending $250 million a year in aid to Africa — about 10 per cent of our foreign aid program — plus $250 million in foods. The European nations are giving Africa $1 billion a year.

"Our Peace Corps has done an outstanding job — 2,500 young men and women, and 90 per cent of them teachers, are in demand everywhere. The countries all want more and we can't fill the demand. One of the problems is that half of the countries are French speaking and we don't speak French.

"The Peace Corps members are going to be coming home into the life stream of the American community and give us a leaven of world attitude that we have never had before and, except for France and Britain, no other country has ever had."

Call Meeting Of Land Bank Stockholders

The Board of Directors of the newly consolidated Federal Land Bank Association of Escanaba announces that the stockholders' annual meeting is to be held at the Sherman Hotel in Escanaba on Oct. 22, at 11 a. m. E. S. T. A smorgas-bord luncheon will be served after the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting is to hear the annual report to be presented by Albert Kinnon, manager, to elect a board of seven directors, and to consider any other business that may be presented.

The association recently declared a dividend of 4 per cent to all stockholders of record as of June 30, 1964.

The new Federal Land Bank Association of Escanaba is a consolidation of the three previous Federal Land Bank Associations in the Upper Peninsula, which were located at Houghton, Sault Ste. Marie, and Escanaba. The association of office will remain in Escanaba under the management of Kinnon.

The present officers and directors of the Federal Land Bank Association of Escanaba are Walter Anderson, Carney, president; Clifford Olson, Bark River, vice president; and Directors Fred Pershinski, Engadine, Leo E. Siren, Mass, William A. Wisti, Chassell, Melvon J. Stahl, Daffier, and Franklin W. Schwiderson, Brimley.

LANSING (AP) — Customers of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.'s Bark River exchange who are located in a half-mile-square area west and south of the present base rate area will be brought into an expanded base rate area.

The State Public Service Commission said this will allow them a rate cut through elimination of mileage charges.

George Marcouiller, manager of the Escanaba Branch office of Michigan Bell, said about 20 customers are affected by the expanded base rate area change which goes into effect today.

The 8-hour-day for all its employees was adopted by the U. S. government on June 19, 1912.

Enrollment Up 4000 At MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University started classes Thursday with a record 31,459 students on campus — nearly 4,000 more than last year.

Registrar Horace C. King said enrollment at all MSU centers is 36,235, up from 31,538 last year.

The University of Michigan earlier reported a total enrollment of 29,103, including students at Ann Arbor, Flint and Dearborn. This was an increase of 1,715 over last year.

The MSU grand total includes 1,812 at the Oakland University branch at Rochester, up 17 per cent from last year; 1,661 at resident centers, up 17 per cent, and 1,303 in credit extension courses, up 35 per cent.

MSU operates resident centers at Kellogg Center (East Lansing), Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Pontiac, Traverse City, Marquette and Benton Harbor. "There were increases in every college and in every level," King said. "New graduate students number 30 per cent more than last fall's total. New freshmen rose 25 per cent to more than 7,000."

"Sundays At Seven"

On Sunday, October 4, the churches listed below will begin a series of informal evening services devoted to hymn singing and to the spreading of the good news of Jesus Christ. Each service will begin at seven o'clock and will last approximately one hour. Although the services will be held in different churches from Sunday to Sunday, each service will be sponsored jointly by all of the churches. We hope to see you "Sundays at Seven."

Charge Motorist As Drunk Driver

Michael H. O'Keefe, 67, of Durand, Mich., is held in the Delta County jail waiting arraignment in Escanaba Municipal Court on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Escanaba police arrested O'Keefe at 8:50 p. m. Thursday in the 100 block, N. 7th St., after following him for several blocks. The officers said O'Keefe drove in an erratic manner and delayed in coming to a halt for the patrol car.

MUCC Receives Associated Aid Of Five Groups

LUDINGTON — Five state organizations with a combined membership of some 35,000 joined Michigan United Conservation Clubs as associate members at a MUCC Board of Directors meeting here last weekend.

Approved for affiliation were the Michigan State Grange (14,000 members), the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs (more than 19,000 members), Michigan Society of Planning Officials (over 1,000), Southern Michigan Quail Association and the Genesee County Audubon Society.

In addition, one club—the East Rockwood Sportsmen's Club—was approved for full membership.

The MUCC Board passed resolutions calling for a larger budget appropriation for the Michigan Water Resources Commission, in order to expand the fight against water pollution, and urging the Conservation Department to expedite development of the P. J. Hoffmaster State Park between Grand Haven and Muskegon on Lake Michigan.

Arrange Clinic For Handicapped Here Oct. 6-7

The Michigan Crippled Children's Commission, in cooperation with the Delta-Schoolcraft Medical Society and the Delta-Menominee County Health Department, will hold an orthopedic field clinic on Oct. 6-7 at the John Lemmer School.

The specialist will be Dr. John T. Hayes, University of Michigan Hospital. Dr. Norman Matthews, medical coordinator for the Upper Peninsula, will be present.

The Escanaba Area PTA and Rotary Club are assisting with the clinic. Appointment times have been mailed to 100 children in the area.

Hecox Named New President Of Tourist Assn.

MARQUETTE — The Upper Michigan Tourist Association will begin its sixth year of operation with a new slate of officers and during the year will move to a new "home" in Iron Mountain. The move will be made on or about April 15.

Ken Slater, Hulbert, former Tahquamenon River boat operator, ended two years' service as president of the association when Clyde Hecox, Marquette, was elected to succeed him. Hecox has been active in the role of vice-president the last two years.

Picked as vice-president was Gene Carollo, Iron Mountain resort operator. James Brad-dock, Marquette, was retained as treasurer, as was Ken Dorman, Houghton, secretary-manager.

One of the highlights of the two-day annual meeting was the showing of slides of a new folder to be issued by UMTA. Designed by Orrin Gruetzma-cher, Menominee, advertising agent, in cooperation with Dorman and the association's advertising committee, the folder will contain 59 colored photos of Upper Michigan attractions and, in the opinion of all who saw the slides, will be one of the most colorful and beautiful pieces of tourist literature ever published in the U.P. It also will contain a large map of the Peninsula divided, through use of color, into six marketing regions, with a separate map of each on the reverse side and detailed descriptions of 120 points of historical and scenic interest in the region.

New Folder

The new folder—with 250,000 of them to be printed if between $20,000 and $25,000 can be raised for the purpose—is intended to supplement, not replace, existing UMTA literature on campground, waterfalls, attractions and accommodations directories.

Excluding counties, cities and townships, only about 400 of the Peninsula's more than 9,000 business and industrial concerns share in financial support of the tourist association, which, under state law, is the only authority authorized to promote this important industry on a region-wide basis. However, suggestions were made at the meeting to conduct an all-out effort to obtain additional backing to broaden UMTA's economic base.

Members at the meeting were told by speakers that tourism is on the increase throughout the nation—largely because of a growing population—and that the Upper Peninsula should work harder than ever to obtain its share of the travel increase.

Emphasis on united promotion was stressed again by Secretary-Manager Dorman. He emphasized that no community "can go it alone"—that Upper Michigan has a regional product in its tourist resources, that when people go on vacation they want a variety of attractions.

Resolutions Passed

In resolutions adopted by UMTA members at the final business meeting, the association:

1. Decided to carry its fight to halt business sign removal by the State Highway Department to the Supreme Court in hopes of eventually getting a uniform code of right-of-way regulations.

2. Requested the Legislature to appropriate a million dollars for tourist promotional purposes to enable Michigan to compete "more effectively" with other states which spend that much money or more to attract visitors.

3. Endorsed a proposal to expand Michigan State University's staff of tourist and resort specialists, who have been "very helpful" to both the Upper Michigan association and its members in providing better hospitality and service for tourists.

4. Called on the Legislature to pass a law restricting all vessels from dumping garbage and litter in the Great Lakes.

5. Asked enactment of a safety law limiting the number of persons who can occupy small boats at one time.

6. Urged lawmakers to give the Michigan Conservation Department sufficient funds to conduct an adequate fishing stocking program to help develop this recreational pastime.

7. Thanked the Ford Times for its announced intention to promote the "Route of the Voyageurs" program next year, a project certain to bring limitless publicity to the Upper Peninsula.

Decision on the number of travel shows at which the Upper Michigan Tourist Association will display its attractive exhibit next year is to be made at a meeting in December.

The fish crowd feeds mostly on shellfish and other seafood.

Bishop Selway Is Consecrated

MARQUETTE — The Very Rev. George Rhys Selway, D.D., was consecrated in St. Paul's church here as the sixth Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan. The service, taken from the Book of Common Prayer, took place before a congregation of Church and lay dignitaries from Northern Michigan and other areas.

Representing the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, was the Rt. Rev. John P. Craine, Bishop of Indianapolis and president of the Fifth Province. Bishop Lichtenberger was unable to attend because of ill health. Bishop Craine as Consecrator, was assisted by Co-Consecrators the Rt. Rev. Herman R. Page, retired Bishop of Northern Michigan, and the Rt. Rev. Joseph M. Harte, Bishop of Arizona.

Bishop Selway served as Dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Phoenix, Ariz., at the time of his election as Bishop.

Many Participate

Preaching the sermon was the Rt. Rev. Richard S. M. Emrich, Bishop of Michigan. He outlined the meaning of the Episcopate as the central office of the Church. He emphasized the fact that a Bishop of the Apostolic Succession represents God and the mission of the Church. He also serves as chief pastor to his people and a leader in the cause of unity.

Other visiting Bishops participating in the service were the Rt. Rev. Nelson M. Burroughs, Bishop of Ohio, and the Rt. Rev. Philip F. McNairy, Suffragan Bishop of Minnesota, who were the Presentors. The Rt. Rev. Archie H. Crowley, Suffragan Bishop of Michigan was the Litanist and the Rt. Rev. William H. Brady, Bishop of Fond du Lac, and the Rt. Rev. James W. Montgomery, Suffragan Bishop of Chicago, Epistoler and Gospeller, respectively.

A special guest was the Most Rev. William L. Wright, Archbishop of Algoma, and Metropolitan of Ontario, who represented the world-wide Anglican Communion of which the Episcopal Church in the United States is a part.

Visting clergy participating included the Rev. Donald V. Carey, rector of Grace Church, Grand Rapids, and the Rev. William S. Hill, rector of St.

Paul's Church, Lansing, who served as Attending Presbyters. The Rev. Alexander M. Rodger, secretary of the House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church, was the Registrar.

Installation Sunday

Diocesan officers taking part included the Rev. H. Vaughan Norton, St. Ignace, as Chaplain to the Consecrator, and the following Masters of Ceremonies: The Rev. Canon J. William Robertson, Iron Mountain, the Rev. John A. Alford, Marquette, and the Rev. Robert J. Yonkman, Negaunee.

Reading the testimonials which certify the election of a Bishop, give evidence of his ordination, and indicate the approval of a majority of Diocesan Standing Committees and Bishops of the Episcopal Church were the Rev. Ben F. Helmer, Escanaba, the Rev. William W. Wiedrich, Houghton, the Rev. Carlson Gerdau, Ontonagon, and Mr. Clifford Lewis, Curtis.

A luncheon at Northern Michigan University and a reception in St. Paul's Parish Hall concluded the day's events.

On Sunday evening, Oct. 4, Bishop Selway will be formally installed in the Diocese's Grace Cathedral, Menominee. The service, to be held at 6:30 (C.S.T.) will be conducted by Bishop Page and the Cathedral and Diocesan leaders. A reception for Bishop and Mrs. Selway will follow in the Cathedral House.

William Henry Harrison gave the longest inaugural address of any of the U. S. presidents.

Strike At GM

The United Auto Workers union is publishing large advertisements in the big city newspapers under the caption "Why The GM Strike?"

It's a good question. After the settlements at Chrysler and Ford the American public must have been expecting that GM would get a settlement from the Auto Workers, too, but it wound up with a strike.

How come?

As the UAW advertisement explains it: "The Issue: More dignity, not more money."

"The real depth of the resentment of General Motors workers against the lack of decent treatment and the denial of human dignity at their work place is reflected in their determination to strike despite the fact that General Motors has offered to meet essentially the benefits of the Chrysler and Ford contract settlement which contain the most attractive economic gains ever won by auto workers in a single set of negotiations. Money is not the basis for the strike. The central issue is how the General Motors Corp. treats its workers on the job."

UAW says it offered to arbitrate unresolved non-economic matters and "with remarkable self-discipline, 75,000 GM workers remain at work in plants making parts for GM's competitors..."

The shutdown of our largest industry for non-economic reasons indicates that the union indeed feels very strongly about work conditions; that or it feels like flexing its muscle, or is trying for a world championship in caprice.

There are as many explanations of why UAW struck as persons asked the question, no doubt.

Time magazine says "The workers may have some justified grievances. GM is tougher than the other auto companies in imposing discipline and controlling working conditions, allows no infringements on managerial efficiency. But (Walter) Reuther (president of UAW) is plainly exaggerating. In fact, he was less interested in improved working conditions for the man on the line than in the issue that really bothers the UAW: GM's treatment of union representatives in its plants. GM makes them work."

"In both Ford and Chrysler plants, the union's committeemen are paid full wages by the company, yet never do a lick of factory work; spend all their time handling union business. GM requires the 1,796 committeemen in its plants—at least one for every 250 workers—to work part time at their regular jobs, leaving most of them only 15 hours a week free for union business."

But even when GM made a last minute offer to increase the time left free for union business, Reuther called the strike. The union isn't expected to prolong the strike, having won the best contract in history, because the strike is an embarrassment to Lyndon Johnson and a campaign aid to Barry Goldwater and Reuther isn't expected to play it that way.

Having won their cake, the unionists didn't want a strike, apparently, but they got one anyway. GM didn't want one either, but GM Vice President Louis Seaton, who said the strike was unnecessary, had said often before: "There are worse things than a strike and one is to give up your right to manage your business efficiently."

As for the public, it is helpless. And scared. The first national auto walkout in 13 years comes in a period of national prosperity, and the public knows that prosperity can be fragile.

Coupled with the GM strike was word from William C. McMartin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, that "there is shaping up a slightly inflationary tone that hasn't been evident until these (auto) settlements."

Biggest fear is that the trend toward bigger labor pacts may spread, putting further pressure on prices. Other unions will be looking at the very fat settlements the UAW got in Detroit and calling for more for their boys. United Steelworkers Chief David McDonald told his men he'd seek "total job security." What that means isn't clear, but it's sure to be expensive.

McMartin heads the agency that copes with the nation's problems of inflation. He's convinced that some kind of economic decline, probably a mild one, will occur in 1965; that the boom will run out of steam. For the Federal Reserve to tighten up on money (raise interest rates) would hustle along a decline and the Fed isn't anxious to do this. But the Fed normally tightens up on money to fight inflation.

The trigger may be in Detroit, but the bang will be felt all around the nation if inflation gets out of hand and the auto settlements went far beyond what the President's Economic Advisory Council said was a safe increase in wages.

Ask The Dentist

By DR. ALFRED E. SEYLER
And The Michigan State Dental Association

I'd like to discuss X-rays and radiation as used in a modern dental office.

Many defects of the teeth and the bone which surrounds and supports them cannot be seen by a dentist or a hygienist who just makes an examination with a mirror and a little pick. Small cavities, decay under fillings, abscessed teeth, impacted teeth, the loss of bone which mean pyorrhea or infectious conditions around the teeth—all of these things are not usually visible, except on the X-ray film.

Despite the need for X-rays to make a thorough examination of patients, we frequently are asked, "Do you really have to take an X-ray, doctor?"

Sometimes patients simply refuse to have them taken. Parents tell us not to take X-rays of their children. There is a lot of unscientific talk about the "dangers" of dental X-rays and most of it is just plain bunk.

Millions of X-rays have been taken of patients by dentists without a factual report of injury to any patient.

Fifty years ago, perhaps, dental X-ray machines were dangerous, but they were the rare and unusual piece of equipment in a dental office, hence few X-rays were taken.

With the increased use of X-ray machines in dentistry and the developing knowledge about their potential hazards, many improvements have been made in the machines and films.

Exposure of certain areas of the mouth which used to require six or eight seconds are now made in one to two seconds or less.

Metal filters are standard on all new model X-ray machines used in dental offices, and in Michigan, every dental X-ray machine is registered and tested for "stray" or undesirable X-rays. Older machines are being equipped with filters and electronic timing devices to enable them to use super-speed X-ray films to lessen exposure times.

No thinking person will deny that radiation affects all living tissues, but, as Dr. Robert Nelson of the National Committee on Radiation Protection puts it:

"There is no scientific evidence that the proper use of modern X-ray equipment for dental diagnostic purposes will be harmful to the patient and there is no justification for concern by patients undergoing X-ray examinations."

Washington Comment

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
ON TOUR WITH GOLDWATER—(NEA) — The next two weeks may produce a critical turning point in Sen. Barry Goldwater's drive for presidency.

Candid realists in his own camp say Goldwater needs a great upsurge to catch President Lyndon B. Johnson.

If a major upturn does not come by mid-October, Goldwater's fortunes could plunge further downward toward a great election disaster.

Even the senator's moderate Republican detractors wish for some upward push, if only for the sake of their threatened state and local tickets.

There is firm evidence that Goldwater and all his inner circle strategists agree that he now trails the President very badly. Where they seem to disagree is on what to say and do about it.

Goldwater privately acknowledges a present heavy disadvantage, while asserting publicly that his campaign right now is "far, far exceeding our expectations." If this is not contradictory, it presumes that much greater gains must still be made.

Some of the senator's aides discuss frankly his trailing position, and some do not.

Tight-lipped, GOP National Chairman Dean Burch tells you Goldwater started from "far behind." He believes the situation is improving, but he makes no forecast of victory.

Another aide, anonymous here, talks in one breath of a national restlessness that can give Goldwater victory, and in the next of his possibly carrying no more than 10 of the 50 states.

Tough-minded though he is, John Grenier, the national committee's executive director, blandly insists even in quiet asides to newsmen that "we are winning."

Asked for the evidence to support this, Grenier simply says:

"Can't you feel it?"

In a slightly different frame of mind, he says:

"A tremendous decision-making process is going on. The forces at work are tremendously dynamic..."

"This is a very unusual election. Everybody involved in it (in the Goldwater camp) understands this. Nobody is paying any attention to the adverse polls."

This is just one more version of what might be called the Goldwater mystique—the theory being offered by many in the Goldwater camp that there

The Doctor Says:

On Road To Recovery

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt
Q—My husband was recently discharged from the hospital recovering from tuberculosis. Can the children and I still catch it from him?

A—In most states it is illegal for a person with contagious tuberculosis to live in a house where there are children. For this reason I feel sure your husband would not have been sent home unless his disease was no longer contagious, even though further treatment is required to complete his cure and minimize the danger of a relapse.

Q—My husband is 80 years old and has always had good health but in the last few months he has been unable to control urination. Is there some simple remedy he could get for this? He refuses to see a doctor.

A—The most likely cause of this condition is an enlarged prostate. Although this makes it hard to start the flow of urine it also leads to overdistention of the bladder and passing of urine day or night. There is no medicine for this condition but it can be relieved by removal of the prostate. Since he can't do this by himself, he'd better summon up his courage and go to a doctor. The operation has been greatly improved in recent years. If he chooses to neglect this dis-

SCHOOL TAXES

I have followed with interest the recent letters to the editor in the Escanaba Daily Press about your school millage proposal. It seems to me that this is another example of the excessive burden placed on the person who must pay property taxes. How can we expect these people to continue to take on ever increasing tax assessments when no effort is made to relieve them?

At the same time the Democratic team will hold the line on property taxes.

Penitents in the Catholic Diocese of Saginaw no longer are asked to make an act of contrition in confession. Instead the priest asks: "Are you truly sorry for these sins and do you intend not to commit them for the future?" An affirmative answer is taken as an expression of the required disposition of sorrow. The penitent then listens as the priest recites the absolution in English.

English now is used in the administration of all sacraments and sacramentals in the Saginaw diocese.

Ann Landers No More Motel For Sir Galahad

Dear Ann Landers: I know this doesn't sound very good, but the only way I can get straight advice is to tell you the whole truth, so I will.

My boss, who is an important executive, is separated but not divorced. He has taken an interest in me and wants to get to know me better. We can't talk in the office for obvious reasons. He says it would be damaging to my reputation if I were seen in public with him since he is still married. Last week he suggested we have dinner in a small motel outside the city limits and just talk. I agreed.

We have gone to this motel twice. You have my word nothing out of the way has happened. I think it is wonderful of him to be so considerate of my reputation but I feel uncomfortable checking into a motel with a man, even though I know in my heart I am not doing anything wrong.

I am reluctant to tell him "no more motel" because he may stop seeing me and I've grown fond of him. I need your help.

— DOLLY

Hello Dolly: I have often wondered what happened to Sir Galahad. Now I know. You've got him! How lucky can one girl get? It's not every man who will invest in a motel room to protect a girl's reputation.

Naturally everyone in the world is blind so no one sees you go into the motel or leave. His car, of course, is invisible, so no one sees that either.

Now it's your turn to be considerate of him. Tell him you are concerned about HIS reputation and that the after-hours friendship is off until he is free.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's sister has been married to a loafer for 19 years.

He will not try to get a steady job and every few months he walks out and moves in with his mother. This has been going on for years but today was the last straw. He left his family with no food and no electricity.

I want to call the child welfare department and get help for the children. My sister-in-law doesn't want the "disgrace" of being on welfare. Would I be justified in calling them anyway?

We have a family of our own and can't support their family, too. But the sight of those children makes me sick.

— CONCERNED

Dear Concerned: Don't call the welfare agency over the objections of your husband's sister. Try to persuade her to ask for help. And talk to your brother-in-law, too. Let him know that there is a law which says a man must support his family.

Dear Ann Landers: I will be 13 years old soon. I act older and am considered mature. My sister, who will be 16 next month, is very jealous of me because I am prettier than she is.

My sister gets to have a boy-girl party on her 16th birthday. I am allowed to say hello to the guests and stay in the living room with them for 20 minutes. Then I have to go to my room.

Isn't this the meanest thing you ever heard of in your whole life? I am sure my sister is afraid I will take some attention away from her. Please be on my side. — MISS PERSECUTED

Dear Miss: A 12-year-old does not belong at a party for 16-year-olds, even though she considers herself mature.

Being an older sister means added responsibilities and extra privileges. Your mother has shown good judgment.

When you are 16 and have a boy-girl party you won't want any 12-year-olds present. Then I'll be on your side.

ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," gives sound and solid rules for teenage dating. To receive a copy, enclose with your request 20c in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Down With NATO, Cypriots Chant

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Several thousand cheering Greek Cypriots have welcomed home a ministerial delegation that negotiated a Soviet military aid agreement in Moscow.

"Down with NATO!" the crowd chanted. "Long live Soviet aid."

The Greek Cypriots said they needed stronger defenses to prevent intervention by Turkey in their nine-month-old feud with the island's Turkish Cypriot minority.

Type Of Work Top Reason For Picking Employer

HOUGHTON — Salary may be a major factor when choosing a first job, but "the type of work I will do" was the main reason given by 1964 graduates of Michigan Tech for selecting an employer.

"Actually, salary ranked fifth in importance among 12 considerations given by students" for their job choices, according to Richard T. Dunnebacke, director of Tech's Placement Service.

Advancement possibilities, the type of work the employer does and geographic preferences were also listed as more important than salary in influencing a student's job selection.

Even so, average starting salaries for this year's engineering graduates increased 4.7% from $576 a month last year to $603 this year. Science students will earn on the average, $588 monthly compared to $579 in 1963, an increase of 1.6%. The largest percentage increase, 9.7%, was in business administration, where salaries climbed from $513 a month last year to $563 in 1964.

Geophysical engineering led all major departments with an average monthly salary offer of $662. Chemical engineering, which last year offered graduates an average $594 monthly wage, was up $24 to $618.

Tagalog is the most important native language in the Philippine Islands.

Munising Officer On Tech Staff

HOUGHTON — Sgt. Major Foster H. George and Sgt. First Class Henry F. Elavsky have been assigned as instructors in the U. S. Army ROTC Detachment at Michigan Tech. A Munising native, Sgt. Elavsky comes to Tech from Battle Creek, Federal Center where he served as inspector general for supply.

Lions Sponsor Rock Meeting On Water Supplies

The Rock Lions Club will hold open house at its regular meeting on Monday, Oct. 5, according to Frans Kuula, program chairman. Participating in the program will be Dr. Mary Cretens, director of the Delta - Menominee District Health Department, and Cletus Courchaine, sanitary engineer with the Upper Peninsula office of the Michigan Department of Health.

Kuula said that local well water supply problems will be discussed by Dr. Cretens. Courchaine will talk about how other communities, such as Rock, have developed public water systems and have done away with poorly constructed, unsafe private wells.

"It is hoped that all area residents will attend this meeting at the Lions Club in Rock at 7:30 p. m. to become better informed on this important local water problem," said Kuula.

NEWBERRY STATE Hospital patients numbering 370 enjoyed the Toonerville Trolley-Tahquamenon River boat trip last week. Originally, the schedule called for approximately 750 patients to participate, but inclement weather prevented trips on Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday. Full fall color enhanced enjoyment of the four hour boat trip on R. J. Beach's Paul Bunyan.

Fire Prevention Support Urged

National Fire Prevention Week will open Sunday and in the week ahead all residents of the city will be called upon to make their homes, business places and other buildings as fire-safe as possible.

Escanaba Fire Chief Nels Bergeon said today that the Fire Department will on Monday, Oct. 5, begin the annual inspection of business places for fire hazards. The firemen will also visit industries and schools and where fire dangers are discovered their correction will be recommended.

The "home fire hazard" reporting system will be conducted with the cooperation of the schools, as in the past years. In this way home owners will be asked to inspect their own premises in connection with the local observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Ask Cooperation
Lives can be saved and valuable property conserved by observing fire safety rules, and Mayor George Rusch today by proclamation called upon Escanaba citizens to cooperate fully in the National Fire Prevention Week campaign.

Fire Prevention Week is the oldest presidentially proclaimed "week" in the United States. This year marks the 42nd anniversary. It is reported that there were 11,800 fire fatalities last year and over 70,000 people sustained fire injuries.

At the same time fire losses in 1963 rose to a new high of nearly 1 1/2 billion dollars; an increase of 11.1 per cent over the preceding year.

"Fire prevention efforts over the years have been paying rich dividends. The growth rate of the country's national wealth subject to destruction from fire has been one and one-half times the rate of increase in fire losses since the end of World War II," said Mayor Rusch.

Owners Check Homes
Escanaba Insurance Association is cooperating in the campaign by distributing posters and literature on fire prevention to all of the schools in Escanaba and to all of the business places, the fire chief said.

The Insurance Association will furnish house inspection report forms to the schools to distribute to the students. Each parent is asked to sign the report agreeing to correct the dangerous conditions which may be revealed.

When filled out the reports will be returned to the teachers. The Insurance Agents will then collect the forms and deliver them to the fire department for checking.

Room For Betterment
"There is room for betterment in all fire prevention efforts. Three out of every four fires are the result of carelessness — these should never have occurred," said Chief Bergeon.

"What are the principal causes of fires? Well, nearly one-fourth of them are caused by matches and smoking, another fifth are electrical origin and one-tenth began in defective heating plants.

"Care with matches and smoking can help hold down fire losses. Keeping electrical equipment in good working order can also aid, and at least once a year, every home should have its heating plant checked by a qualified serviceman," he added.

Fire Safety Tips
There are certain basic fire safety rules which if followed, would prevent most of the fires before they start. The fire chief makes the following fire-safety recommendations:

Keep basements, attics and closets clear of rubbish; place matches out of reach of youngsters; be careful in using matches and cigarettes around the house — and do not smoke in bed.

If electric wiring is old, have it checked by an electrician or the City electrical inspector. Do not overload electric circuits. Don't run electric wires under rugs, over hooks, nails, metal pipes or in exposed places where they may be subject to wear or mechanical damage. Use the proper size fuses in the electric circuits.

Have the furnace checked for defects. If you are burning coal in your furnace provide covered metal cans for ashes. Never place them in a wooden or cardboard boxes.

Check your gas appliances if they are automatically controlled and equipped with automatic pilots of the shut off type and properly vented to the chimney.

If there is the odor of gas in the house get the family out and call the fire and police departments.

Should fire break out it is essential to do two things immediately to save life and property: 1. clear the house of occupants, with particular attention to children and old folks; 2. call the fire department, ST 6-1234, south side, or ST 6-1235, north side.

MEETING THE PLANE
HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—While visiting friends here, John Farmer volunteered to drive to the airport and pick up another man who was flying in on business.

He took along an acquaintance that sent them along narrow streets and roads. Suddenly, they came upon what seemed like a new, four-lane highway.

"Man alive," said Farmer, "you sure do have some roads up here!"

"Good roads!" the man riding with him exclaimed. "You are driving down the airport runway."

Price Of Gold Rises Again On London Market

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The price of gold has been rising again on the London market after a long levelling period. And the U.S. government is taking further steps to stave off any attempt of other nations to drain American gold reserves further.

During August when the price of gold was holding steady in London, the U.S. Exchange Stabilization Fund managed to add $28 million to its gold holdings. And the Treasury reserves, which don't include the fund's holdings, held almost unchanged.

In September the price of gold rose 3 1/2 cents an ounce in London, where it can be bought and sold on the market. This week the price climbed to $35.1125 an ounce. The official price at the U.S. Treasury is $35 an ounce, with purchasers required to pay around 8 cents more for handling charges.

Banks Cash In
The London free market is important because if the price mounts high enough to cover buying charges and shipping costs, the temptation rises for foreign central banks to cash in their American dollars for U.S. Treasury gold. This happened in October 1960 when the price of gold rose to $40 an ounce and

U.S. reserves dropped sharply.

Foreign central banks are permitted to buy gold from the U.S. Treasury. American business concerns also can buy gold from the Treasury for commercial and art purposes, but American citizens can't on their own.

On Sept. 25 the official Treasury gold reserve was $15,460,841,203 compared with $15,583,057,607 the same date in 1963.

The Exchange Stabilization Fund transactions are reported only once a month, and then after a month has passed. At the end of August, the fund's gold holdings had advanced $28 million to make the total, including the reserves, $15,657,000,000. At the end of August 1963 these combined holdings came to $15,633,000,000, as reported in the Federal Reserve Bulletin. The total had reached its high point in April 1964.

Currencies Swapped
The success of the U.S. monetary authorities in protecting the Treasury's official gold reserves, although the holdings of American dollars by other nations has been advancing, is due to a number of things.

One is the club of 10 of the principal financial nations working together to prevent runs on member's currencies or reserves. This has held drains and fluctuations to a minimum. Another is the workings of the International Monetary Fund. And it is this source of help which the United States is tapping again.

It has just arranged to draw an additional $100 million from the fund in the form of currencies of other nations. Total drawings now come to $400 million.

The U.S. Treasury can swap these foreign currencies to other nations for dollars they hold. This keeps them from presenting these dollars to the Treasury for U.S. gold. And the other nations use the currencies they get in the swap to settle their own accounts with the International Monetary Fund.

Bark River

Miss Mary Lou Urbane returned this week from a visit with her sister, Miss Joanne Urbane, a teacher in the Kenosha school system. Mary Lou spent last Tuesday at Mount Mary College visiting with former classmates.

Mrs. Kenneth Casperson, the former Lynn Bruce, and son, Todd, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bruce. Her husband, Kenneth, received his discharge from Truax AFB Sept. 15 and has enrolled at Michigan State in Lansing. Mrs. Casperson will join him there when a house is available.

Mrs. Harvey Sundquist of Tacoma, Wash., will arrive Friday night to visit the Arthur Sundquist family and other members of the late Fred and Louis Sundquist families in the area for an indefinite period.

BLUE SHIELD ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

Blue Shield coverage can be carried into retirement...

How can I get Blue Shield coverage when I retire from the company where I had group coverage?

Your Blue Shield protection goes right along with you. You need not re-apply. There is no waiting period.

What distinguishes Blue Shield from most medical insurance companies?

Among others, Blue Shield offers you these unique advantages: Service benefits based on your needs as opposed to rigid cash settlements. Protection regardless of age or condition of health.

Why doesn't Blue Shield cover routine examinations or "check ups"?

Because the resulting expense would be greater than Blue Shield or any health care protection plan could possibly afford. Blue Shield does, of course, pay the doctor's fee when his service is in connection with the diagnosis or treatment of an injury.

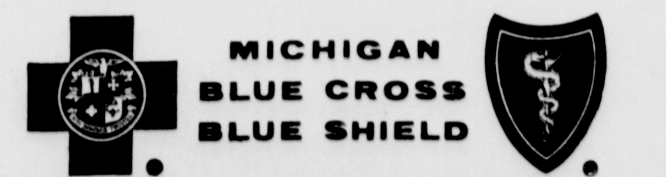

Are my Blue Shield benefits still in effect if I get injured or ill while outside of Michigan?

Yes. Your Michigan Blue Shield provides for you wherever you go.

About how many medical bills does Blue Shield pay in a year?

In 1963 Blue Shield paid for more than 3,200,000 services — nearly one for every subscriber.

Do you have a question about your Blue Shield coverage? Just write Dept. 54, Michigan Medical Service, 441 E. Jefferson, Detroit, Michigan 48226. We will answer as many of your questions as possible in future columns.

Now! Join Blue Cross-Blue Shield without belonging to a group if you are under 65. Get your application from your doctor, hospital or nearest Blue Cross-Blue Shield office.

'Story Of Hymns' Is Topic At WSCS Meeting

"The Story of Hymns" was the topic during the meeting of the Woman's Society of the First Methodist Church Thursday afternoon.

"The music for many of our hymns comes from great musicians, Mozart, 'Jesus I My Cross have taken', Beethoven, 'Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee', Bach, 'O Sacred Head Now Wounded', Mendelssohn, 'Still Still With Thee', Mrs. George Semmens, speaker, said.

"Blessed Assurance" is regarded as one of the most beautiful ever written by the blind composer, Fanny Crosby, observed. "How Great Thou Art" is one of the newest hymns, published in 1954, although its origin dates back many years before 1927 when Rev. Stuart Hine, an English missionary came across it. The group joined in the singing of the hymns.

In closing, the speaker stated that Christian women were summoned to take a creative part in the new age; summoned to clarify their role as women; summoned to evaluate their witness and service in these times.

"What new music will come out? Folk Singers of today have much with religious theme," she said.

During the business meeting, the date of Oct. 27 was set for the annual smorgasbord and Nov. 21 for the bazaar. Mrs. John Nicholas was elected secretary of the society.

Hostesses were members of the Miri-Mabigail Circle, Mesdames Edward Edick, Clinton Dunathan, George Semmens and Rod Virgo and Miss Mary Newton.

Ag Boosters To Dine On Oct. 22

Plans were formulated for the Delta County Agricultural Booster Association dinner at Marco's Thursday, Oct. 22, by the Agricultural Committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber building Wednesday. Co-chairmen George Bathke and Dick Marengeer presided.

Joseph Heirman, Delta County director of MSU Extension Services, announced that awards for achievement in agriculture will be made to the farmers in the following categories: potatoes, beans, peas, beef, dairy, soil conservation and poultry. The smorgasbord dinner will be served from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. and the program will follow. Deadline for reservations is Friday, Oct. 16.

Tickets for the dinner are available from George Bathke, Escanaba Dairy; Dick Marengeer, Escanaba Machine; Gust Asp; Al Geartis, Northwest Fruit Co.; E. G. Graves, Bay

Public Building Project Started In Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Gold-plated shovels were used Thursday in groundbreaking ceremonies for the $4,655,195 City-County Justice Building, the first public building to be constructed in downtown Grand Rapids in more than 80 years.

The new building is located in the urban renewal project's Vandenberg Civic Center. Participating in Thursday's ceremonies were Bar Association President Alfred W. Hewitt, Mayor Chris Sonneveldt and Charles Lawyer, chairman of the Kent County Board of Supervisors.

Crane Co. Buys Furnace Company

GARWOOD, N.J. (AP) — The Crane Co., manufacturers of valves, fittings and plumbing fixtures, announced Thursday it has purchased the assets of the Thatcher Furnace Co. here for an undisclosed amount.

The Thatcher firm had been a wholly owned subsidiary of the Holland Furnace Co., of Holland, Mich., which acquired it a year ago for approximately $2.8 million. Thatcher had 250 employees at that time.

Thatcher president Russell M. Cook of Montclair will become general manager of the Thatcher Furnace Division of the Crane Co.

The Thatcher company, founded in 1850, was a manufacturer of boilers, furnaces, air conditioners and related equipment, with sales concentrated on the eastern seaboard, ranging to about $5 million annually.

The Crane Co. has headquarters in New York.

Tanner Offers Trout Rules

LANSING — Modifications of proposed 1965 fishing rules affecting trout, muskies and pike will be sent to the Conservation Commission for action at the Oct. 15-16 meeting at East Tawas.

The Commission at its September session deferred decisions on the original recommendations to permit public hearings and to allow time for Dr. Howard C. Tanner, new Fish Section chief, to review them.

Tanner today announced the following changes that will be proposed to the Commission.

1. Drop proposed creel and lure restrictions on the Ontonagon and Salmon rivers in the Upper Peninsula. Two public hearings held in the Upper Peninsula disclosed no particular support for the special regulations, Tanner said. Both streams are lightly fished and apparently not in need of restrictions as a conservation measure.
2. Modify the order on the Au Sable Main Stream by dropping the minimum size to 12 inches instead of 15. The higher size is too restrictive, Tanner believes.
3. Modify the order on the Au Sable South Branch to "flies only" instead of "lures only." Local sentiment strongly favors this change, Tanner commented.

Hanner is drafting a policy statement on future application of Public Act 165 which, if approved by the Commission, will furnish guidelines for future designations of streams.

It will include a requirement that public hearings be held before any streams are selected and that reasonably strong local support be shown as one condition. Certain biological requirements also will be spelled out.

Muskellunge and pike—

1. Retain the original recommendation for all inland waters.

2. Establish a special set of regulations for Lake St. Clair, to bring Michigan's rules into closer conformity with Ontario's and to make needed restrictions apply more equally to both hook-and-line and spear fishermen.

Himes, a hospital corpsman at the U. S. Coast Guard Air Station, happened to be flying over the area in a helicopter, looked down and saw his son crossing into forbidden territory.

NOT A REQUIREMENT
Neither the U. S. Constitution nor any statutes require the chief justice to administer the oath of office at a presidential inauguration or for the associate justices to stand by.

facts about home wiring

Wiring circuits are the electrical "pipes" that carry electricity to your appliances, lighting and electrical equipment. You need enough circuits—of sufficient size—to carry plenty of electricity to the places where you use it, every day.

- General purpose circuits, so you can plug in lamps, TV, radio, and many other electrical items throughout your home
- Small appliance circuits, for kitchen, laundry, dining room—for toasters, fry pans, mixers, waffle makers, and such
- Large appliance circuits—a separate circuit for each major appliance, such as electric range, dryer, air conditioner

Modern electrical living demands modern electrical wiring. See your electrician about a wiring "check-up" for your home.

Floor Coverings Studied By Jills

Mrs. Frank Hicks presented a lesson on hard surface floor covering at a regular meeting of the Jolly Jills Home Extension Club Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Warren Brown, 219 Delta Ave.

The lesson, which included the selection and care of linoleum, vinyl and asphalt floor coverings, was well received by the group and was followed by the business meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next regular meeting will be held Monday, 8 p.m. Oct. 26, at the home of Mrs. James Bratonia.

Briefly Told

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hoskins and sons, Johnny and Butch, of Amber, Wis., visited over the past weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David LaBumbard. Mr. LaBumbard has been a patient at Pine Haven Rest Home and was moved Wednesday to St. Francis Hospital, where he is a medical patient.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Neustus of L'Anse were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ebbeson, 401 Minnesota Ave.

State Police ticketed James P. Wils Jr., 1610 Dakota Ave., improper left turn, and Michael Gallagher, 214 N. 14th St., Escanaba, for speeding.

Wells Demotion Upheld, 3 to 2

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Agriculture Commission today upheld the demotion of former administrative director Joe Wells by a 3-2 vote.

Wells, former weekly newspaper publisher and editor in southwest Michigan and a Berrien County native, had been administrative director to director George S. McIntyre at $12,000 a year, but was demoted to publicist at $9,900. He has held that post for 11 years.

The board voted along party lines, although chairman Charles Zollor of Benton Harbor said he was not sure the group had authority to act in the matter. "The director is the only person we hire and fire," he said.

Republicans Zollor, Blaque Knirk of Quincy and Edward Wright of Saginaw upheld McIntyre's demotion action.

Democrats Richard Stout of Marshall and Mrs. Kay Sleik of Iron Mountain voted against the action.

McIntyre has been complaining of Wells' work since 1959, he said, maintaining he did not follow instructions. He has given Wells two successive "conditional civil service ratings."

Wells appealed the ratings to the State Civil Service Commission, which deadlocked 2-2 over the appeal. The failure to agree had the effect of permitting the department to take whatever action it chose. Wells agreed to the demotion this week.

Stout said he had received complaints from across the state over McIntyre's action.

He worked 10 years under a Democratic administration without any problems — but ran into trouble under a Republican administration, Stout said. Knirk answered that in his term as chairman he had not received any complaints. "And I don't like the political implications," he added. I think the director has been bending over backwards in the case."

ZOLLOR ELECTED

LANSING (AP) — Charles Zollor of Benton Harbor, Republican candidate for the State Senate from the 2nd District, was elected chairman of the Michigan Agriculture Commission today.

Zollor, who had been vice chairman for the past year, succeeded Blaque Knirk, of Quincy, who was elected secretary at the same meeting.

Commissioners elected Edward Wright of Saginaw vice chairman.

Mrs. Kay Sleik of Iron Mountain, declined nomination for a second term as secretary.

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has proclaimed Oct. 5 as Child Health Day, Oct. 12-19 as Patriotic Education Week, Oct. 18 as Community Health Week and Oct. 12-17 as Michigan Meat Week.

LANSING (AP) — The State Public Service Commission reports it has approved a $1.1 million borrowing by Independent Telephone Corp. of Caro through the issuance of first mortgage bonds. The money will be used to modernize present facilities. The company serves more than 11,000 customers through 21 exchanges.

MONROE (AP) — The new State Highway Department travel information center near Monroe, located on I 75 about 10 miles north of the Michigan-Ohio State line, will be formally dedicated next Wednesday.

LANSING (AP) — Promotion examinations have been scheduled by the State Civil Service Commission to fill newly established posts of regional and district fire supervisors in the State Conservation Department. The examination roster will be open to department employees for three regional and 10 district fire supervisor positions.

Traffic Killings Up 16 Per Cent

By The Associated Press
Michigan's traffic fatalities are increasing faster than those of the nation as a whole.

Over the first nine months of this year 1,531 perished in Michigan traffic—a gain of 16 per cent over similar 1963.

The increase for the nation over the first eight months was 12 per cent. The nation's total traffic toll was 30,500 through August.

State police said Michigan's September toll of 162 was one less than for the same month of 1963. But officials predicted subsequent deaths from injuries suffered last month would push September over last year's same month.

The increase for the first nine months in Michigan was 215, and the count of 1,531 for the first three quarters is exceeded only by the 1,601 who met death on the state's highways in the first nine months of 1937.

The National Safety Council reported the nation's traffic claimed 4,870 lives in August, an all-time high for any one month. This was up 13 per cent from August of last year and second in total only to 4,410 killed in July of this year.

National figures for September were not yet available.

The safety council said several factors are involved in the over-all worsening traffic fatality picture.

Because of the baby boom after World War II, young drivers who are more accident prone are taking to the highways for the first time at a rate three times as high as more mature drivers.

Permissible speeds are increasing, resulting in more fatalities when smashups occur. One study shows that in accidents at 65 miles an hour occupants are twice as likely to be killed as in accidents at 55 miles an hour.

A Florida treasure team has salvaged more than a million dollars in doubloons, pieces of eight, silver bullion and gold jewelry from the coral-encrusted remains of Spanish galleons lost off Cape Canaveral in 1715.

Nixon To Speak At Fund-Raising Event In Lansing

LANSING (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon tentatively has added a Republican fund-raising luncheon in Lansing to the itinerary for his Michigan visit Oct. 16, the Ingham County GOP chairman said Tuesday.

Chairman Louis E. Legg Jr. said if time permits, Nixon also may be asked to visit Michigan State University for a student rally on the campus.

The Republican State Central Committee announced Nixon would speak at a party fund-raising dinner Oct. 16 at Ishpeming and join in a Republican rally at the Marquette airport.

Legg said the Nixon itinerary for the day is not definitely settled yet.

Gov. George Romney told his news conference Thursday he plans to see Nixon when the former GOP Vice President is in Michigan but will not accompany Nixon on his tour of the state.

Progress Made Under Romney, Schweigert Says

"We have been the party working to protect the people against unlimited government, taxes and spending. The men who served during the tax struggle deserve thanks," Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert of Petoskey said in a talk here Wednesday night.

More and more persons are voting Republican and the progress made in Michigan under Governor Romney should be continued, he told a group of 45 at Harbor Inn.

Romney's actions have helped all in the state, and the party can be proud of the record of fiscal responsibility, with the state ending the fiscal year well in the black on a 'pay-as-you-grow' basis," he noted, citing the state was in the red $120 million, including $20 million unpaid bills.

The election is important as it will mark the first time a state board of education, consisting of eight will be elected, and an appellate court will be named. Three of the nine appellate judges will be available to this area; the others will serve Wayne and surrounding counties.

Reorganization of the state government to 20 departments, replacing the cumbersome system of 147 separate boards and commissions, will be among important tasks to be accomplished by the Legislature. With re-districting, representation is even more crucial, he noted, stating he agreed with Gov. Romney that the one-man, one-vote concept is a "vicious gerrymander."

Sen. Schweigert, who has served four years, drew applause when he urged that Republicans not be separated by labels, citing "we are all Republicans and need no other labels" in urging votes for the entire ticket.

"The party is trying to develop maximum measures of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness and no one is interested in equality of servitude," he declared.

"Responsibility," he said, "is one of the key matters which distinguish the Republicans."

Mrs. Marion Gibson of Newberry, candidate for 107th representative district spoke briefly. Local candidates also were presented.

DeMolay Unit Will Be Inspected

The George A. Shaw Order of DeMolay will hold its first fall meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple with an inspection in the DeMolay degree under the direction of the area deputy, Harry Clavage of Gladstone. Plans will be completed for the all school dance next week, sponsored by the Chapter.

Ballot Proposal Defeat Urged

Forty attended the first of eight township Democratic rallies Wednesday night, at Doyle school, and heard talks by Einar Erlandsen, candidate for 107th district representative and Raymond C. Clevenger, 11th Congressional district candidate.

Erlandsen cited his record of 16 years in the Michigan legislature and promised to work as hard for his new 107th as in the Delta district.

The proposal for a Massachusetts type ballot was scored by Erlandsen, who urged its defeat because of implications for the two-party system, which he said he strongly favors for good government in the state.

Clevenger said the area is reaping effects of "do-nothingism" in area Congressional representation, citing a depressed economy. He said he would support progressive legislation and seek to improve the economy.

County and township officers were introduced and made brief remarks. Edwin Johnson, candidate for Doyle township clerk chaired the meeting, which had Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Frenette as chairmen.

The next rally is Oct. 7 at the Sportsmen's club in Hiawatha township, with Edwin Carlson, Democratic candidate for drain commissioner and Nels Halsey, Democratic candidate for Hiawatha supervisor in charge.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Sheila Jackson, Gulliver; Margaret Mongrain, Detroit; Elizabeth Huyser, Caledonia; Kathryn Shay, Germfask. Discharged were Theresa White, Sharon Buck, Clarence Boucha, Wanda Snyder, Rodney Lovell, Leora Bryner and Baby.

With Holy Name and Menominee included in the organization plans for the new area athletic conference, there are only five independents left among Upper Peninsula high schools.

The U.P. teams still lacking conference affiliation will be Rudyard, Gwinn and Marquette Bishop Baraga, all Class B in enrollment, and two small Class D schools—Amasa and Grand Marais.

Membership in an athletic conference will open up a whole new area in sports for Holy Name. The Crusaders for years have sought affiliation with a conference, making repeated application for membership in both the Great Lakes and Menominee Range leagues. For the first time in the school's history, Holy Name will now enjoy the many benefits of conference membership.

One of the most obvious advantages will come in the scheduling department. The Crusaders will have five automatic opponents within the conference and the task of filling out the remainder of the schedules will be much easier than in the past. Athletic recognition, both within the conference and outside of it, will be a distinct advantage for Holy Name and its students. A well-rounded program of athletics, with competition in all sports, is one of the aims of the new conference and this will be a blessing to the Crusaders in future years.

Just the fact of belonging to a conference whose members include some of the biggest and strongest athletic schools in the area adds to the prestige of all members. And in the case of the present new conference, this should be a big factor. Among the schools involved, four have recently won the coveted Floyd Barber Trophy, emblematic of Upper Peninsula football supremacy.

Tigers Snatch Pair; Delay Yankee Plans

By The Associated Press

That little old champagne taster, Yogi Berra, still is manipulating numbers today after the New York Yankees' pennant express ran afoul of the Detroit Tigers.

Berra, who has become accustomed to the taste of that bubbly stuff almost every fall in his 17 years as a Yankee, was all ready for his annual sip after New York swept two from Detroit Wednesday, reducing their magic number to two.

But the Tigers turned right around and knocked off the Bombers 4-2 and 5-2 Thursday delaying the clinching of New York's 29th pennant at least another day. If the Yankees whip Cleveland and Kansas City takes Chicago, Yogi can whoop it up again. But Berra isn't depending on the A's.

Two Yankee victories in the three-game set with the Indians will end all the speculation and that's what Yogi is shooting for. The runners-up aren't dropping by the wayside themselves as evidenced by Baltimore's 2-0 blanking of Washington Thursday which kept the Orioles' chance to tie alive. So, figures Berra, the best way to wrap it up is for the Yankees to win two.

Of course if the Athletics care to cooperate by knocking off Chicago or Detroit happens to top Baltimore tonight, Yogi will gladly accept the help.

The Tigers weren't much help Thursday, coming from behind in the ninth to pull out the opener against rookie Mel Stottlemyre and then getting a six-hitter from rookie Dennis McLain to win the nightcap.

Dave McNally permitted just one hit—a seventh-inning double by Don Lock—in blanking the Senators for Baltimore.

In other American League games, Dick Radatz made his 78th appearance and chalked up his 25th save as Boston dropped Cleveland 4-2, and Kansas City got a 12th-inning homer from rookie Larry Stahl to whip Minnesota 5-4m.

Stottlemyre nursed a 2-1 lead through eight innings of the opener against the Tigers. But Detroit loaded the bases in the ninth and Gates Brown's single knocked in the tying and lead runs. Don Wert's sacrifice fly produced another as Mickey Lolich picked up his 18th victory.

It was Brown again in the nightcap scoring two of the three runs off loser Rolie Sheldon. He scored on a wild pitch in the second and rode home on Wert's triple after his second straight single in the fourth.

McNally had a no-hitter for 6-23 innings before Lock's shot broke it up. A walk and a wild pitch put the runners in scoring position but McNally escaped the jam by getting Ken Hunt on a long fly.

The victory left the Orioles one percentage point back of second-place Chicago which was idle.

Michigan Teams Play 'At Home' This Weekend

By The Associated Press

Michigan's collegiate football schedule has a somewhat "homey" touch this weekend as only two teams will venture out of the state for their gridiron clashes.

The University of Detroit plays host to Cincinnati tonight to open the weekend action.

Navy is at Michigan and Southern California at Michigan State in the top games on Saturday's schedule. Albion is at Adrian, Olivet at Alma and Hope at Kalamazoo in the MIAA league openers.

Elsewhere in the state, John Carroll is at Wayne State, St. Norbert at Ferris State, Winona at Michigan Tech, Defiance at Northwood and Northern Michigan at Hillsdale for a night game. Eastern Michigan is not scheduled.

Games outside the state finds surprising Central Michigan at Eastern Illinois and Western Michigan at Miami, Ohio.

Detroit Coach John Idzik says Cincinnati quarterback, Brig Owens is "probably the most dangerous individual we'll face this season."

Owens passed or rushed for all of his team's first downs, threw a touchdown pass, ran for two others and kicked two extra points in a 20-10 victory over Dayton last week.

The Titans continue to show strength on the ground, paced by the running of Joe D'Angelo and Fred Beier. But Idzik feels his team will have to improve its passing, which has averaged a mere 49 yards in the first two games.

Albion, at 2-0 one of the state's six unbeaten teams, expects to have trouble with Adrian even though the Bulldogs have not beaten them in 13 years and are winless in two starts this season.

Kalamazoo (1-1) takes on hapless Hope which has been shutout in both of its games so far and has yielded 45 points. The Olivet-Alma clash pits two teams with identical 1-1 marks.

Reds Creep Up On Idle Cards In Tense Race

By The Associated Press

Gene Mauch has run out of moves, except downward perhaps, but Johnny Keane and Dick Sisler still have time to maneuver their teams into the National League pennant.

Cincinnati's Sisler made a key move Thursday night, deciding to use reserve catcher Jim Coker instead of regular John Edwards, who hurt his hand the night before.

Coker responded with a single, a double and his first home run in the season, sparking the Reds to a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh that moved Cincinnati to within one-half game of Keane's first-place St. Louis Cardinals, who were idle.

Coker's second-inning single drove in the Reds' first run after 34 scoreless innings. He doubled and scored in the fourth, then snapped a 3-3 deadlock with his homer off Steve Blass in the sixth. That put Cincinnati ahead to stay.

The 28-year-old catcher has been the property of six major league teams since he reached the majors in 1958. The Reds purchased him from Denver of the Pacific Coast League Aug. 23. Before Thursday night, Coker had played in nine games and batted .280 with two runs batted in.

There was no immediate word on whether Coker or Edwards would be in the line-up tonight when the Reds play their next-to-the-last game of the season against Mauch's once-potent Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phillies still are working on a 10-game losing streak and conceivably could tumble into fourth place behind San Francisco.

While the Reds are battling Philadelphia, the Cardinals, winners of eight straight, will play the lowly New York Mets. If the Reds win their two remaining games, the Cardinals would have to win all three of theirs to finish first.

St. Louis can eliminate the Phillies and the Giants from the race by beating the Mets tonight.

In other NL games Thursday, San Francisco trimmed Houston

6-3, Milwaukee whipped New York 7-3 and Chicago nipped Los Angeles 4-3.

In the American League, Detroit delayed New York's pennant clinching by beating the Yankees 4-2 and 5-2, Baltimore defeated Washington 2-0, Kansas City edged Minnesota 5-4 in 12 innings and Boston beat Cleveland 4-2.

The Reds scored the decisive run in the seventh inning on a triple by Vada Pinson that Jerry Lynch couldn't handle in left field and Frank Robinson's double. The Pirates rallied for one in the eighth as Dick Schofield doubled and Bill Virdon singled.

Sammy Ellis relieved Joe Nuxhall, though, and snuffed out the Pirates' threat. Nuxhall, 9-8, had take over from starter Bob Purkey after Roberto Clemente singled across two runs in the fifth.

Juan Marichal won his 21st game even though he gave up 10 hits to the Colts. Tom Halliller backed Marichal, who had lost eight times, with a homer and a run-scoring single in a four-run third inning. Willie Mays singled in two runs in the outburst.

Staubach completed 14 of 16 passes for 237 yards and two touchdowns and ran 70 yards for another in a 26-13 victory.

It was the Heisman Trophy winner's best single-game performance of his career.

Michigan showed a weakness in pass defense in an opening victory against the Air Force last week. But it is expected to be improved Saturday because of the return of defensive back John Rowser.

One thing working in Michigan's favor for this, the ninth meeting between the two schools, is the fact that Bob Timberlake will direct the Staubach, injured in the opening game two weeks ago, is expected to be completely recovered. He came off the bench late in the game last Saturday and spearheaded Navy's 35-6 conquest of William & Mary.

While most of the attention will be focused on Staubach, Navy also has a secret weapon in junior punter Tom Williams of Shepherd, Mich.

Williams has a punting average of 36.4 yards. In the opening game against Penn State, his punts rolled dead on the opposition's 5, 7 and 9 yard lines. Another punt last week stopped on the 3.

This will be Michigan's last non-league game of the season. The Wolverines open their Big Ten campaign against Michigan State next Saturday.

Michigan attack. Timberlake saw limited service in last year's game.

Timberlake paced the rushers with 80 yards last week. This was one more yard than teammate Mel Anthony and eight more than sophomore Jim Detwiler.

Jack Hand Picks Packers To Win Against Vikings

By JACK HAND

Johnny Unitas and Baltimore's new-found running punch will provide the acid test for that bruising defense unit of the Los Angeles Rams in one of the most interesting games on the weekend pro football program.

The Colts, who have not lost to the Rams in Baltimore since 1955, are coming off a 52-0 rout of the Chicago Bears that aroused title hopes in Baltimore. They lead the league in scoring and have the No. 1 passer in Unitas, who has been intercepted only once and has thrown seven touchdowns.

Harland Searles' front four on defense were likened to "Dempsey, Firpo, Ruth and Gehrig" by Minnesota's Dutch Van Broeklin last week after losing to the Rams 22-13. He didn't say which was among Lamar Lundy, Merlin Olsen, Deacon Jones and Rosey Grier.

The battling average picked up last week with nine out of 11, making the NFL season total 11-8-2 and the American Football League total 7-4 for a combined 18-12-2.

TV School To Be MEA Feature

MARQUETTE—An educational television demonstration on the National Education Association's project, "Schools for the Sixties," will be a feature of the annual regional conference of the Michigan Education Association to be held Oct. 8 and 9 at Northern Michigan University.

The demonstration, arranged by Dr. Kenneth Bergama, coordinator of instructional communications at Northern, will be presented at 1:30 p. m. on the first day of the two-day conference. The keynote address, introducing the project, will be given by Dr. Ole Sand, who has directed the NEA "Schools for the Sixties" project since its inception.

More than 3,000 Upper Peninsula educators are expected to attend the regional conference here, which is one of 12 in-service training programs being sponsored this fall by the MEA.

Principal speakers for the opening session of the conference will be Dr. Lynn M.

MILK RUN—Eileen Barthel, 14-year-old Ixonia, Wis., farm girl, provides "different" motive power for her sulky as she drives "Jo-Jo," a Guernsey heifer, in a recent Watertown, Wis., parade. The "passenger" is Eileen's three-year-old niece, Debbie.

Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, and Ray Lawson, president-elect of the Michigan Education Association and a teacher at Rochester High School.

Friday's session will feature an address by Alexander C. Carmichael, pastor of the DeWitt Community Church, Syracuse, N. Y., on the topic, "Education in a Changing Society."

Throngs Greet New 1965 Cars

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Reports from U. S. auto dealers showed that customers thronged salesrooms in great numbers last week for introduction of the 1965 cars and backed up their visits with record breaking purchases.

The healthy sales reports lent support to predictions that sales would exceed 7.8 million cars in the 1965 model run. If attained, it would be the fourth consecutive 7-million plus year.

Chevrolet, Ford and Chrysler-Plymouth division reported their sales on introduction days ran far ahead of the previous record of 1963.

The optimistic sales figures overshadowed some of the gloom resulting from the General Motors strike.

Sales Doubled
General Motors, however, was forewarned of the impending strike possibilities and had about 290,000 of its new 1965 offerings in dealer showrooms—or enroute to them—when the walkout occurred.

Chevrolet, for example, reported it sold 31,749 of its 1965 cars in the Sept. 24-26 model period. Combined with truck sales and those of leftover 1964 cars, Chevrolet's sales for the period totaled 60,212 vehicles. That was more than twice the number sold in the announcement period last year, the former record time.

Lee A. Iacocca, Ford vice president and general manager of its Ford Division said Ford delivered 21,581 new cars, some of them 1964's, on Sept. 25, the introduction day. This was about 11 per cent ahead of the old high mark of 19,385, set last year.

In addition to deliveries, Ford also took 33,587 new car orders that same day for a combined total of 55,168 units—again a new high.

Larry Averill, general sales manager of Chevrolet, said Chevrolet, in addition to the cars it delivered, wrote 104,500 orders for passenger cars during the three days. This was double the amount written in the comparable introduction period last year.

P. N. Buckminster, general sales manager of Chrysler-Plymouth, said 14,358 new cars were delivered during the introductory weekend, an increase of about 25 per cent over the previous record set last year.

Over 8 Million?
Ford's Iacocca had predicted that 1965 model year sales, including imports, would hit 8.2 million.

Frederic G. Donner, GM board chairman, was not quite as optimistic but said during recent car previews that he expected the figure would be "over 7.8 million passenger cars."

Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler president, was a little more guarded in his comment, but predicted the industry sales could rise to an annual average of 9 million by the late 1960's or early 1970's.

Roy Abernethy, president of American Motors, said 1965 model sales, including imports, would "equal or exceed the 8-million plus mark set in 1964."

OLD INTO NEW—Africa gets another new nation October 24 when the old British colony of Northern Rhodesia becomes the independent state of Zambia. Zambia occupies some 290,300 square miles in central Africa, some of it bordering on the strife-torn Republic of the Congo.

WHEN MICHIGAN State University Extension sponsored a hardwood thinning demonstration recently in the forest of Octave Carignan in Cornell Township, part of the interest of the gathering was in the equipment used by dealers to demonstrate thinning. Two oddities in the exhibit are shown here by Joseph Bergeron of Bergeron's Marine of Masonville. The chain saw weighs only 11 pounds and has a three-quarter horsepower motor. Its blade is a foot long. The pump is for portable use. (Daily Press Photo)

Veterans Trust Fund Rebuilt

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney reports that Michigan's depleted Veterans Trust Fund is being rebuilt ahead of schedule.

Romney said that by the end of this year there will be $11 million put back into the fund. Under a 1959 law which liquidated the $50 million fund, a repayment schedule required that $10 million had to be restored by the fiscal year starting July 1, 1965.

Romney said the speedy restoration was possible because of the surplus accumulated under his administration.

A bill was passed during the last legislative session requiring that the total of $50 million be repaid by the fiscal year starting July 1, 1971.

Directors Okay Milwaukee Road, C&NW Merger

Directors of the Chicago & North Western Railway and Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad at separate special meetings in Chicago Tuesday approved the principal terms of a proposed merger of the two companies.

Spokesmen for the two railroads said the principal terms will be incorporated into a definitive plan and agreement of merger which will be subject to approval by the two boards of directors, the shareholders of the two companies and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Under the terms of the merger, the 10,435-mile North Western and the 10,540-mile Milwaukee Road would be unified under the name of the Chicago, Milwaukee & North Western Railway Co. The lines of the merged railroads would extend from Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana to the Pacific Northwest.

Homecoming Dance Saturday At Bark River

BARK RIVER — The Bark River - Harris Homecoming game with Pembine will be played Saturday, Oct. 3, and the homecoming dance will be held that evening from 9 to 12 in the multi-purpose room of the elementary school with music by the Nomads. The event is sponsored by the senior class. Advisers are Mrs. E. J. MacMartin and Ray Mayotte.

Chosen by the football squad as King and Queen were David Bruce and Janice Fisk. Members of the Queen's Court are Nancy Barr, Mary Bellefeuil, Sandra Palmgren, Cheryl Pelletier and Diane Savage. Escorts will be members of the football team. The crowning will take place at the dance.

Preceding the game will be a parade at 12:30, from the Bark River Community Hall, through the town, and up the old state road to Harris.

Members of the dance committee are William Hall, Paul Westlake, Linda Pilon and Sandra Palmgren and decorations will be in the school colors of blue and gold.

Return From Trip

Miss Karen Good left Wednesday for Lansing to enter Michigan State University for her senior year. Her mother, Mrs. Chester Good, accompanied her to Chicago and visited with an aunt, Mrs. Carl Johnson, for a day, then went to Milwaukee for a visit with her son's family, the James Goods.

Arthur, another son, and three fellow engineers with the Eastern Panhandle Pipeline Co., of Kansas City, were working in Milwaukee for a month and staying at the Inn America which burned Wednesday night. Three of the boys lost all their possessions but a fourth, Dale Pettijohn of Emporia, Kan., lost his life in the fire.

Chester Good joined his wife and sons Saturday. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sundquist, who visited their daughter, Donna, and family, the Rayne Charbonneaus. Enroute home the Goods visited with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gruenwald in Thiensville. She is the former Catherine Good.

Mrs. Good and sons attended the Lawrence Welk show which appeared in Milwaukee Wednesday night.

VISITORS AT THE Bishop Noa Home for Senior Citizens in Escanaba today were former Governor and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, center, and Atty. Raymond Clevenger of Sault Ste. Marie, Democratic nominee for 11th District congressman, left. Williams, who is U.S. undersecretary of state for African affairs, was presented with a driftwood lamp made by Matt Kasun of Manistique, right, a resident of the home. (Daily Press Photo)

State Role In Govt. Aided By Trend: Williams

G. Mennen Williams, Michigan's longest-time governor (6 terms) was on the campaign trail for the Democrats in the Upper Peninsula today, and looking ahead to basic changes in Michigan's state government with the Nov. 3 election.

He expects the voting to swing the balance toward the Democrats and big city representation in the state Capitol at Lansing.

The former Governor and Mrs. Williams attended a Democratic rally at the Teamsters Hall Thursday night at which he had kind words for the candidacy of Atty. Raymond Clevenger of Sault Ste. Marie, Democratic nominee for congress in the new 11th District.

"The campaign is beginning to build up," said Williams, who is U. S. undersecretary of state for African affairs, in an interview with the Escanaba Daily Press. "The Democrats are encouraged by the fact that with redistricting of the state we ought to have a Democratic legislature in Lansing and a chance to add several congressional seats."

Praises Clevenger

"Ray Clevenger has a very good opportunity in the 11th District. He has the background and serious intentions that will make him an outstanding congressman. The late Congressman Bennett (in the old 12th District of the U. P.) would vote the Democratic side often, but Congressman Knox's record is of a different kind and it will be hard for him to retain that vote."

"They tell me John Mackie is going to win in the 6th District; that he has all kinds of support from both Democrats and Republicans because of appreciation of the job he has done as highway commissioner. Billie Farnum (state auditor general whose job is evaporating in the new constitution) has an opportunity to win in the new 19th District. Sandy Brown (state treasurer whose elective job is also expiring) has an uphill fight, but has galvanized that area. While in office he has built up good will and the bankers are being helpful to him."

"In Detroit if the Democrats win we'll have a second Negro congressman."

Stabler Stronger

"I think it is interesting to see the development of Neil Staebler the candidate (for governor) from Neil Staebler the organizer. I can really say that his ability to project himself as a candidate has vastly increased. His speeches are snappier and I think he gets through to the people."

"Bob Derengoski, the solicitor general, a capable attorney who knows government, is the nominee for lieutenant governor. He was my legal adviser and also John Swainson's. He's very serious about his candidacy as he had to give up 18 years of civil service status and that's something. He's a pretty highly motivated fellow and he's beginning to make an impact in the campaign."

"I think that Swainson lost last time largely because of the tax problem. I don't mean to say that Romney wasn't a capable and colorful campaigner, he was, but when you analyze the changes, the urban areas reacted to Swainson's tax bill."

"Neil's big problem will be to get the Democratic vote back. I think he's doing it. There was some early skepticism about how able a candidate he was, although all agreed that he'd be a good governor. His campaign technique is getting to a point where he is a formidable candidate."

Party Unified

"The state convention was very enthusiastic and the party came through with unity, although there was a difference of opinion about the lieutenant governor. T. John Leskinski and I gave a party in Hamtramck and it was obvious that the Polish community was united behind Derengoski, so there was no real fission."

"With the Nov. 3 election Michigan should be able to have a Democratic House with some working majority. The Senate will be close. Not since 1932 when Crockwell went in have the Democrats had a majority in both houses."

"There will be a real call for statesmanship. The parties are too prone in a situation like this to play winner-take-all. Neil Staebler is particularly sound on this because he feels that in Michigan we've developed a tradition of belligerency which is not the best way to govern and he'll use all his persuasion to develop a tradition of cooperation."

"We don't expect all persons to be of the same mind, but he's hopeful to get a (party) relationship that will work for the state. Committee assignments have been developed in total disproportion to membership. The Republicans point out that the Democrats were pretty heavy-handed in this line when they were in control and unfortunately this is true. The new hope is that we can develop a tradition like that of the Federal Congress, where representation (on committees) is proportionate to membership.

State Govt. Role

"The real fundamental health of our system depends on the reinvigoration of state government. There are two elements that are important:

"1. The ability of the states to raise money by taxation so they can do the job of government. The property tax has an unfair impact on those less able to pay, but we have piled on so many excise taxes that the treasury is pretty well off and tax reform is going to be difficult."

"We need reform two ways: to end the uneven burden on business and to help the property owner."

"2. With fair representation Michigan and other states are going to be in a position where the Legislature is more in tune with the needs of a majority of the people and where it will come up with legislation that makes the states more active partners in the federal system. I was impressed as governor that workmen's compensation got started on the state level before the federal government got into it and that it's still largely at the state level."

Williams was accompanied here by Robert B. Burns of Grand Rapids, a Democratic nominee for the new state court of appeals in the Nov. 3 election.

Raymond Clevenger stated that his campaign in the 11th District showed the Democrats well organized and spirited in their interest in the election.

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — Jacob Spears of Pennsylvania erected one of Kentucky's first distilleries in Bourbon County and named the whisky for the county.

Later, the name of bourbon was applied to whisky made of corn according to this distillery's formula, which produced a heavy-bodied, mellow liquor of deep amber color.

Strong Family Ties Needed, Workshop Told

Mrs. Loa Whitfield was featured speaker this morning at the annual fall workshop of the Upper Peninsula Chapter of the Council on Family Relations.

About 70 representatives from various community organizations in the Upper Peninsula were here today when the first general session met at the State Office Building.

Mrs. Whitfield is the leader of special programs in home economics and family living for Michigan State University in the Upper Peninsula. She is a widely recognized authority in this field.

Her topic was Family Strength in 1965, and she encouraged individual and community programs for aiding and strengthening families. She said:

Dr. Margaret Hurd, sociologist at Rutgers University, says that the most important development of the '60's for the family is the change in the operation of the family itself. For many years in America, the family was controlled as a patriarchal (or sometimes a matriarchal) unit. In a patriarchal family, the father was the disciplinarian and made the decision.

"Several years ago the pendulum swung the other direction. Neither parent nor teacher was to exert discipline over a child. He might become frustrated. He might not develop his creative abilities or not make the most of his potential. So we had little discipline."

"Perhaps today's youth problems are because today's parents are the children who grew up in the 'don't frustrate the child' period. But Dr. Hurd says that in the '60's the family is developing into a democratic unit." "Parents and children work, play, and decide things together. In a democratic unit, as many things as possible are decided together and decided for the best of each member. However, there must be someone in authority, or there is no protection for the democracy. How do you train children early to have judgment and be able to help make decisions, but also keep control of the situation?"

"Our family life programs are helping to meet the needs of those people who are interested in developing skills in human relations for themselves, the family, and the community. The skills in human relations are the most difficult of all skills, but the interest and desire to be successful with them shows in our program demands."

"Americans do not like to think of their society as being characterized by social class. With the term is associated an idea of snobbery that sits uneasily on the consciences of those who are proud to be citizens of a democracy and who, in their heart of hearts, believe that 'every boy can become president.'"

"On the other hand, everyone realizes that social class exists. It is probably here to stay. There is no town so small that it does not have a wrong side of the tracks and a right part of town."

"People clique together socially: professors are more comfortable with doctors than they are with businessmen. When businessmen gather socially, they are not likely to be found in company with members in good standing of the plasterer's union. The banker's daughter is more likely to marry the lawyer's son than the telephone lineman's boy."

"When there is so gross a deficiency in communication, there is little understanding; and when there is little understanding, suspicion and even hostility are likely to develop. Adding to this likelihood of suspicion and hostility between social classes is the fact that there are frequently very important conflicts of interest between them. The middle- or upper class landlord resents the cost of improving rental properties occupied by members of the lower class, and his tenants are justifiably bitter about the condition of their dwelling places."

"The aristocrat resents higher taxes on his inherited fortune; the lower-class widow desperately needs an increase in her 'Aid to Dependent Children' funds. The successful medical practitioner resists any move toward socialized medicine, while the poor neglect their health because they cannot afford doctor and drug bills."

This afternoon the group was to divide into six discussion groups and work with consultants in talking on problems in the family.

The final seminar will have as its topic, "Action for Family Strength in 1965". Robert Drew, of the Rice Memorial Clinic in Houghton, was to moderate a panel of six committee members in the discussion.

Lab Assists Farmers

A soil testing laboratory has been operated by the Board of Education of the Stephenson Consolidated School District for 15 years. Over 10,000 samples of soil have been tested so far for farmers and ASC organizations in Schoolcraft, Delta, Dickinson and Menominee counties. During the last school year 338 farmers used the service and requested 632 soil tests. A small fee is charged for the service. John Sundquist is the soil testing technician. The laboratory operates in cooperation with the Michigan State University.

HERE ARE SOME of the hundreds of items (new and used) to be sold at the benefit auction sponsored by the Escanaba Exchange Club. The sale is to be held for two days at the U.P. State Fairgrounds, starting at 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. (Daily Press Photo)

Benefit Auction Set For Weekend

One of the biggest benefit auctions in the history of Escanaba will be held this weekend for a worthy cause — furnishing of the School for Retarded Children and financing the Delta Fund for Underprivileged Children.

Sponsored by the Exchange Club, whose "Rags to Riches" campaign was such an outstanding success, the two-day benefit auction is scheduled to start at the U. P. State Fairgrounds at 1 p. m. Saturday and at the same hour on Sunday.

Col. George Lockard, auctioner, has donated his professional services for the benefit of the charity.

William Daniels and Robert Abb are co-chairman of the Exchange Club's auction sale and they report that the response to the appeal for sale items has been most generous.

All Exchange Club members are asked to report at the warehouse this evening at 7 to complete plans for sale.

"There are many worthwhile items of merchandise to be sold," said Daniels. "There is new and used furniture and appliances, a choice half of beef trucks and cars, cooking utensils, clothing both new and used and many other items."

Proceeds from the sale will be used to finance the purchase of furniture for the John F. Kennedy School for Retarded Children, and for the Delta County Dental Fund administered by the Exchange Club.

Representatives To Retirement Board Appointed

The Escanaba City Council last night named representatives to attend the annual meeting of the Retirement Board to be held in Lansing Oct. 20.

Frank Bourke, city controller, is the administrative delegate from the city, with Milton Embs, assistant to the manager, the alternate; and the employee delegate is Marlin Williams with John DeChantal, alternate.

The Council received four bids for a trailer-mounted double-diaphragm pump and accepted the low bid (not as yet determined) subject to the approval of the manager.

Joseph Horan, proprietor of the Sands Motel, 2600 Lardington St., informed the Council by letter that he opposes the decision of the Board of Appeals granting Lawrence Fleming permission to proceed with construction of an addition that extends to the front lot line. This violates City Ordinance 348, Horan believes.

The Council also received a report on the progress of the 1964-65 capital improvement program.
